

His Eminence Grand Ayatollah Sayyid al-Hakeem hosts a group of teachers of Pakistani universities, and he advises love, tolerance and cooperation

His Eminence Grand Ayatollah Sayyid Mohammed Saeed al-Hakeem advised a group of Muslims from Pakistan towards love, compassion and tolerance amongst the various parts of its society, and to distance themselves from segregation, and all forms of enmity and hatred. As such, the Muslims can benefit from one another. He advised them to act according to the laws of Islam.

His Eminence presented this advice to a group of university teachers from Pakistan.

He further advised that they should continue the commemoration of special occasions and the pilgrimage to the holy sites, in order to enrich themselves from the lives of the holy personalities and to follow in their righteous footsteps.

To conclude the meeting, His Eminence mentioned a narration from the Holy Prophet (peace be upon him and his progeny): "The believer is a structure for another believer, each supporting one another."

He prayed that Allah Almighty supports them in acting in His obedience, and that He accepts their pilgrimage.
